Information and Access Policy

The Civil Resolution Tribunal (CRT) collects a wide variety of information from parties in disputes brought to the Tribunal. Most of this information is shared with the parties and their representatives during the dispute resolution process. In some cases, members of the public may also be able to access CRT dispute records.

The CRT only asks for information that is needed to resolve a dispute. The CRT will collect the following types of information, and share it with the parties:

- Contact information for the parties and their representatives, including names, addresses, telephone numbers, fax numbers, and email addresses;
- Each party's description of the dispute and position on its resolution;
- Communications between the parties and the CRT;
- Information and evidence provided by parties, which may include information about damages and injuries, health and financial records, and other information of a personal nature;
- Information about witnesses, including their contact information and evidence they might be called upon to provide.

The CRT might also collect information from a party about special circumstances they might have. These circumstances might include language or capacity issues, or the ability to pay CRT fees. This information will not normally be shared with other parties, unless the circumstances require the CRT to do so.

Generally, discussions between the parties aimed at resolving a dispute through negotiation will be confidential. This means the CRT will not disclose these negotiations unless the parties agree to the disclosure or the law requires it.

If the parties settle a dispute by negotiation and agreement, the public will be able to request copies of any CRT order documenting the settlement.

If a dispute is not resolved by agreement, it will move into the Tribunal Decision Process. The CRT will decide the claims and make any necessary orders to give effect to the decision. Members of the public may access the names of parties in a CRT Tribunal Decision Process, as well as a general description of the dispute and its status. Members of the public may also request copies of submissions and evidence provided during the Tribunal Decision Process.

The Civil Resolution Tribunal Act requires that final decisions and orders must be posted to the CRT's website and available to the public. Normally, a member of the public will have to submit a request to search for dispute records that are not publicly available through the CRT or another public website.

If a party or witness is concerned that information in a final decision or order would be harmful to their privacy or security, they may request that this information be redacted or anonymized.

All information that the CRT receives from parties and witnesses is stored in Canada.

The CRT's complete policy on collecting and disclosing information gathered during the dispute resolution process can be found online at <https://civilresolutionbc.ca/resources/information-access-privacy-policy>.

Declarations and Signature

 I confirm that:

- I am the primary applicant and will be the contact for all other applicants (if any) named in this dispute.
- The CRT only asks for information necessary to resolve a dispute. Information entered in this application form will be shared with the other parties in the dispute, except where indicated in the form. I confirm that all applicants are aware of the CRT's Information Access and Privacy Policy.
- I and all other applicants understand that the maximum amount that the CRT can award in a small claim is $5,000, excluding CRT fees, expenses and interest. If our total claim is more than $5,000, we agree to reduce it to $5,000 and abandon the rest.
- I am responsible for providing evidence to support my position on each claim in the dispute. I understand that if the dispute goes to the Tribunal Decision Process, there will be deadlines for providing my evidence, and failure to prepare that evidence in advance may not be a basis for the CRT to extend those deadlines.
- I understand that, under section 92 of the Civil Resolution Tribunal Act, a person who provides false or misleading evidence or other information in a tribunal proceeding commits an offence and is liable on conviction to a fine of $10,000 or imprisonment for a term not longer than 6 months, or both.
